HANDSOME TEETH,
The greatest personal ornament of the human physiognomy.

R. C. SKINNER, Surgeon Dentist of New York, respectfully informs the citizens of Alexandria, that having concerns that require his continuance near the seat of government 7 or 8 days, proposes to attend to his professional business in this city until the 18th inst. Those ladies and gentlemen who have unfortunately lost their Front Teeth, have therefore a favorable opportunity of having them replaced in a very superior style, warranted to retain a perfect natural colour, not distinguishable by strict examination from those of the natural growth, and in most cases without the least pain. Those persons likewise whose teeth are partially decayed, or are encrusted with that contaminating, destructive substance the Tartar, may have the decay arrested and the Tartar judiciously removed, and the teeth thereby preserved during life. Therefore, if a regular apprenticeship, and long study in the city of London, improved by 20 years extensive practice in New York, and aided by the recommendations of the most exalted characters in that state can entitle him to confidence, he will be sure to receive, and endeavor justly to merit the patronage he may be honoured with. Dr. Skinner, may be consulted any hour at Mr. Milbourne's sign of the Golden Ball, Union-street. Ladies will be attended at their own houses if desired.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE ABOVE WORK.

“ We have had frequent occasion to speak of the diligence, good sense, and good intentions, of Mr. Murray; and we congratulate him sincerely on the success of this particular work. We announce this edition, because the alterations and additions are so considerable, that it is rendered almost a new work.”

British Critic, July 1801.

“ The examples which Mr. Murray has here selected, and the judicious reflections which accompany them, are such as can scarcely fail to make the best impressions, and to produce the best effects, on all who read them with attention. The present edition of this excellent publication, which has been long known and commended, is enlarged by the addition of twenty-two new characters, filling nearly one hundred pages.”

Anti-Jacobin Review, Jan. 1801.

“ We have received the tenth and last edition of this valuable work. The improvements made in it, will appear from the author’s advertisement. We can only add to this account of the present useful volume, our hope that it will be extensively circulated among our countrymen.”

The American Review & Literary Journal, for July, August & September, 1801.

“ On reviewing this book, in its improved form, we find the facts unquestionable and highly interesting—the style correct and neat—and the general tendency of the work such as induces us strongly to recommend it, especially to young readers, who love entertainment mingled with instruction.”

Evangelical Magazine, Oct 1801.

“ The rapid sale of this small but valuable collection, has anticipated the commendation we are desirous to bestow. In an exemplification of more than seventy remarkable characters, many striking examples are exhibited which, in the quiet hour of reflection, may contribute to arrest the careless and wandering; to animate the sincere and virtuous; and to convince or disconcert those who have been unhappily led to oppose the highest truths.” Gentleman’s Magazine, Nov. 1803.

FROM THE VIRGINIA ARGUS.

A VIEW

OF THE MOST IMPORTANT PROCEEDINGS OF
THE LEGISLATURE OF VIRGINIA AT THE SESSION OF 1808-9.

5. An Act allowing persons arraigned of misdemeanors in certain cases, the right of challenge.

Where a person shall be put on trial for a misdemeanor, punishable by confinement in the penitentiary, such person shall be allowed the same right of challenge as is allowed in case of felony. (To commence from the passing.)

6. To amend the act, entitled an act to amend the act, entitled an act for reducing into one the several acts for regulating the inspection of tobacco.

This law provides for the sale of tobacco which shall remain undemande in a warehouse 3 years after it shall have been inspected, or brought down from an upper inspection. The proprietors are to pay the same storage as heretofore, and the commonwealth is bound to make good all losses which may happen, by fire, within 2 years from the time of its inspection. Judgment on ten days notice, may be recovered by the auditor, for all monies due from inspectors to the commonwealth; and any person injured by a breach of the condition of an inspector's bond, may institute a suit thereon in the name of the governor; a copy of the bond, certified by the clerk of the county where taken, shall be legal evidence. Remedy is given to executors and administrators, for obtaining duplicates of tobacco notes lost in the life time of their testator or intestate, or between their death and the qualification of the executor or administrator.

7. To explain and amend the act concerning the land-office, &c.

This act authorises the register to receive land warrants and grant others in exchange, where the indorsement is only by writing the name, or an unattested assignment; provided that the applicant shall make oath, that to the best of his knowledge, the indorsements have been fairly made, and that he is the rightful proprietor. The original warrants, with the affidavits, are to be preserved by the register, who, quarter-yearly, is required to publish a list of them, with the indorsements, in some paper published in Richmond, together with the names and residence of those to whom exchange warrants have been issued. Treasury warrants shall hereafter only be assignable by written assignment attested by two or more witnesses; and no exchange warrant shall be granted for an original unless it be so assigned. The fees of the register, for a copy of the patent, not exceeding 400 words, is 63 cents; and for every 30 words thereafter 3 cents: For a copy of a plat and certificate, not exceeding ten courses, 63 cents; and for every course afterwards two cents: For every other copy, where the fee is not fixed by law, which doth not exceed 200 words, 25 cents; and for every thirty words thereafter three cents. (To commence from the passing.)

8. To repeal the act, more effectually to prevent malicious and vexatious suits.

This act merely repeals the act of the 22d of January, 1803. (To commence from the passing.)

9. To extend the remedy of the commonwealth in certain cases in chancery.

This act gives to the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district, exclusive jurisdiction in all cases, where a suit may be instituted in behalf of the commonwealth, notwithstanding the defendant may reside out of the district. And all suits hereafter brought against the commonwealth shall be in that court only. Suits depending in the Williamsburg and Staunton chancery districts, are to be transferred to that of Richmond. (To commence from the passing.)

10. Concerning special courts of appeals.

If a judge of the court of appeals be disabled by sickness or infirmity from attending court for one whole term, and it shall appear probable that the disability will continue, and one or more of the judges be interested in a cause, so that a court cannot be formed; a special court of appeals shall be constituted as prescribed by the 5th and 6th sections of the act "for reducing into one the several acts concerning the court of appeals, &c." The said court shall be attended by the same officers, have the same powers, &c. as are prescribed by the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th sections of the above act. (To commence from the passing.)

11. To amend the acts establishing superior courts of law in each county, &c.

The leading features in this act are, that the state is divided into 13 circuits, instead of 12, as by the act of the last session; and a new arrangement of the districts has been made. The clerks of the county courts are to be clerks of the circuit courts; the legislature reserving the right of taxing their fees when they exceed three hundred dollars. The other provisions of this act are merely intended to give effect to the law of the last session.

12. To provide for the redemption of certain lands, forfeited by the non-payment of the taxes thereon.

All lands heretofore or hereafter forfeited for the non-payment of taxes, under the existing laws, may be redeemed within three years, from the time when such forfeiture hath, or hereafter may accrue, and until the first day of March next succeeding the expiration of the said three years, on payment of the taxes due thereon, with ten per cent. interest per annum, from the time the same became, or shall become due, till such redemption. Provided, that all lands heretofore forfeited shall be redeemable in like manner, and on payment of the like interest, on or before the first day of March, 1810.

The remainder of this act merely prescribes the duty of the auditor, collectors & commissioners of the revenue in proceeding on the sale of lands forfeited for the non-payment of taxes, after the first of March, 1811, and as the law itself, together with several others relating to the same subject, are directed to be published by the auditor, for six months successively, in some newspaper of general circulation, in each state in the union, during the present year; and also for 3 months successively preceding the first Monday in August, 1811, it is deemed unnecessary to insert more of it in this place. —(This act to commence from the passing.)

13. To explain the acts, concerning the inspection of tobacco.

This act declares that the inspectors shall not be allowed any compensation, by the commonwealth, for hands who have to attend the warehouses under their care.

14. Concerning the service of Warrants for small Debts.

No sheriff, or deputy, shall serve any warrant issued by, and cognizable before, a single justice, for debt, detinue or trover; but such warrant shall be directed to and served by some constable, as provided by the second section of the act, "To amend the act concerning constables," passed the 10th of January 1807. On the death, resignation, removal, or refusal to act, of any constable assigned to a particular district, any other constable of the county may perform the duties of the office, within such district. All executions or judgments rendered by any justice, for debt, detinue, or trover, shall be directed to some constable of the county, who shall levy, and return the same agreeably to the provisions of the above act. (To commence the first day of May next.)

15. Concerning the jurisdiction of county and corporation courts, in certain cases.

This act declares, that hereafter the monthly and quarterly courts shall have concurrent jurisdiction in receiving probate of deeds and wills, and in granting letters of administration, and letters testamentary. In all questions which may arise in any court, touching the probate of wills, or granting letters of administration heretofore at a quarterly court, it shall be deemed as sufficient as if done at a monthly court. Proof of and recording deeds at a quarterly court heretofore, shall be deemed as good as at a monthly court, as against the grantor, bargainer or lessor, his heirs and devisees; and as against all subsequent purchasers who shall become so after the passing of this act; or who, heretofore became so, with notice, and also as against all those claiming under such future or former purchasers with notice.

16. To amend the penal laws of this commonwealth.

If a person voluntarily, wilfully, and of purpose destroy or conceal the last will and testament or codicil thereto, of any decedent, or wilfully aid or assist therein, with intent to prevent the probate thereof, or to defraud any devisee or legatee therein, he shall be deemed guilty of felony, and on conviction, be confined in the penitentiary for not less than one, nor more than ten years.

When a presentment shall be made, in a superior court having criminal jurisdiction, of a felony committed, and the person charged would be entitled to a trial before an examining court, the judge presiding shall issue his warrant to any sheriff or constable for apprehending the person so charged, and committing him to the jail of the county where the offence was committed. The jailor shall immediately notify some justice of the commitment, who shall issue his warrant for summoning an examining court as heretofore. The sheriff shall summon the witnesses who gave evidence when the presentment was made, (as well as any others; and a list of their names is to be endorsed on the warrant by the judge, at the time of issuing it. (To commence from the passing.)

17. To amend the act entitled an act concerning coroners.

This act provides that when a coroner shall take possession of the estate of a person found guilty of murder, who shall have fled, he shall render a true inventory and appraisement of the estate, and in every respect stand as an administrator. Suits depending against the coroner shall not abate by the apprehending or surrender of the fugitive, but may progress; giving the coroner power to retain funds sufficient to discharge all judgments which may be rendered against him, in favor of a creditor. Provided, that the coroner, before he shall exercise the powers granted by this act, shall take an oath to render a true inventory of the real and personal estate of the fugitive, and enter into bond, before the court, for the faithful performance of the duties hereby imposed. And the wife and children of the fugitive, if any, shall be supported out of his estate, at the discretion of the court; who are to appoint commissioners to make the allotment. In the event of the death, of the fugitive, without being taken or surrendered, the power of the coroner shall cease, and he shall account to the administrator or executor, under the general law, and deliver over the whole estate to those entitled.

18. To amend an act entitled an act to empower the Executive to appoint persons to collect the arrears of taxes.

The agents appointed or hereafter to be appointed, have power to collect all arrears of taxes, due prior to the first of November 1806, including those appropriated to particular objects; and they and their agents have the same power of distress within their districts, as other collectors of public taxes.

Persons accepting the office of sub-agents are to take an oath to discharge their duty faithfully, and also enter into bond; and they and their securities are liable to a recovery in the same summary way as deputy sheriffs and their securities to their principals.

The auditor is to furnish the agents with transcripts from the commissioners' books, of all taxes due in their districts prior to the first of November 1806, which shall be sufficient authority for proceeding to collect.

The agents are to take receipts for process delivered to sheriffs and collectors; and if they fail to return the process or bonds taken, or pay the money before the return day a copy of the receipt shall be transmitted by the agent to the auditor, which shall be sufficient evidence for the auditor to obtain a judgment against such delinquent. —(To commence from the passing.)

BALTIMORE, March 9.

Late Foreign News.

The arrivals of to-day & yesterday leave the affairs of Spain in great uncertainty, they embrace the contents of London papers to the 29th Dec. It is however not to be doubted that the French were at Madrid on the 4th Dec. and that the British under command of gen. Moore were unbroken on the 7th. On the 17th of the same month an intercourse by messengers still continued between the French and British governments. A most important feature in this intelligence is that it doth not confirm

The news from Guadalupe.

Asserting the overthrow of the Spanish cause, which must be untrue, tho' we make no doubt that it was circulated at that island. That the Central Junta, with Florida Blanca at their head, should yield their country to a foreign yoke, after the glorious struggles they have made & the determined resolution they have taken to perish or prevail, is not to be credited without stronger proof than verbal rumour, coming from a distant French colony. That they should further tarnish Castilian honor by adding a treacherous surrender of their allies, the English, may be believed by the ignorant and the credulous; but, we assure ourselves, that it will be amply confuted by the next arrival from Europe. Again; is it to be believed that the Spanish means of combating Bonaparte could be every where so far annihilated, as to compel the Junta to an abject and servile submission, and yet the English forces still remain unbroken or beyond the immediate power of the conquerors, insomuch as to require hostages against their departure from Spain.

The report we have had, of the circumstances attending the attack upon Martinique, is probably very much exaggerated to the disadvantage of the invaders. It is said, that they had two general engagements with the French, in which their army of 12,000 men were both times defeated, and left in all 2000 lost. The incredible quality of this part of the account is apparent from what follows.

Notwithstanding two defeats, the British are said to have remained in the island, which was closely blockaded by 60 vessels of war; the French had burnt all their own shipping at Port Royal, and Guadalupe was in daily expectation of being attacked. We make no doubt that the sum of all this is, that Martinique has fallen into the hands of the British. Accordingly we published on Monday last, a translation from an Havana paper advising that the surrender was officially known at Porto Rico.

Our own concerns are said to have undergone no change with respect to France. England has, however, repealed her export duty on neutral productions, carried thither through the operation of her orders in council.

We learn, that owing to a renewed indisposition of the king of England, a regency was contemplated, to consist of the prince of Wales, the Queen and the duke of Portland. This circumstance was not publicly known at London.

At Plymouth, whence the Union sailed, in formation was received from London after the 29th December, that a great action was fought in Spain, in which the French were defeated with great loss.

The greatest exertions were making according to verbal accounts from Paris, for pouring in bodies of troops, to sweep the devoted country of Spain, and by terror, desolation and murder, to overawe and reduce it.

St. Martins, near Madrid,

December 2.

On the 29th ultimo, the head quarters of the emperor were removed to the village of Bouzas; on the 30th at break of day, the duke of Wellington presented himself at the Simo Sierra; a division of 13,000 men of the Spanish army of reserve defended the passes of the mountains. The enemy tho' was unattackable in that position, had entrenched the narrow passage of Puerto, with 16 pieces of cannon.— The Polish light infantry marched upon the right—the 9th upon the causeway—and the 24th followed by the side of the heights on the left—general Senarmont with six pieces of artillery, advanced by the causeway. The action commenced by the firing of musketry and cannon.

A charge made by the gen. Monthrion, at the head of the Polish light horse, decided the affair—it was a most brilliant one, and the regiment covered itself with glory, and proved it was worthy to form a part of the Imperial guards—cannons, flags, muskets, soldiers, all were taken or cut to pieces. Eight Polish light horse were killed upon the cannon, and sixteen have been wounded. Among the last is capt. Dzivinnossy, who was dangerously wounded, and is almost without hope of recovery. Major Segur, marshal of the emperor's household, charged along with the Polish troops, and received many wounds, one of which is very severe.

Sixteen pieces of cannon, 10 flags, 20 covered chests, 200 wagons, laden with all kind of baggage, and the military chests of the regiments, are the fruits of this brilliant affair. Among the prisoners, which are very numerous, are all the colonels and lieut. col. of the Spanish division. All the soldiers would have been taken, if they had not thrown away their arms, and dispersed into the mountains.

On the 1st Dec. the head quarters of the emperor were at St. Augustin, and on the 2d, the duke of Istria, with the cavalry, commanded the heights of Madrid.

The infantry could not arrive before the 3d. The intelligence which we hitherto have received, leads us to think that this army is suffering under all kind of disorders, and that the doors are barricaded. The weather is very fine.

Camp at Madrid, December 4.

The town of Madrid has capitulated.— Our troops entered this day at noon. [This intelligence is contained in the Moniteurs of the 13th and 14th instant.]

London, Dec. 16.

Admiral sir Samuel Hood is under orders for the coast of Spain. The precise point is not known, as he is going upon a secret service. He will hoist his flag on board the Zealous, of 74 guns, his former and favorite ship.

We have received this morning the Hamburg Correspondent to the 30th ult. It appears that great commercial failures have occurred in Austria. These she unfortunately owes to the restricted state of her trade, through the part she is compelled by France to take.

GLOBE OFFICE, two o'clock.
Mr. Shaw arrived in town this morning from France. The two ladies, nieces of Talleyrand, who sailed from Dover with the foreign messengers, arrived in Paris on Monday last. It was then known in that city, that the French army was at Madrid, but it caused no sensation, being considered a matter of course.

Mr. Shaw reached Paris on Tuesday and delivered his dispatches to M. Champagny, the French minister for foreign affairs, who received him with great politeness, and gave orders that every possible attention should be paid to him. He was entertained in the minister's house until Wednesday, when he left Paris, with the answer to his dispatches.

An English officer arrived this morning with dispatches from Mr. Frere at Madrid, to our armies. The dispatches from our armies are dated the 7th. They were then in high spirits. They had not heard of the arrival of the French at Madrid. It was understood, on the contrary, that Bonaparte had not followed up the victory of Tudela with his usual energy. He represents the Spaniards as greatly in want of cavalry.

The Earl of Liverpool, the father of lord

Hawkesbury, died at his house in London, on the 17th December. Lord Hawkesbury being his eldest son, is now earl of Liverpool.

From papers brought by the Union, arrived in the Delaware.

LONDON, Dec. 28.

At length intelligence has arrived from Spain, and we rejoice to say, that it is of a favorable nature. The Orestes is arrived at Falmouth in eleven days from Corunna.

The dispatches received by government from Corunna are to the 14th December, and from sir John Moore of the 8th instant.
It was known at Corunna, that the French were in possession of the Escurial, but it was believed in Galicia and Asturias, that they had been repulsed from Madrid with very great slaughter.

Sir John Moore has pushed a corps to Zamora, and sir David Baird was on his march to join him. The united force of the British army would then be 40,000 men.—
The marquis de Romana's army, at Leon, exceeds 20,000, and is daily increasing.— The Spaniards, so far from being depressed, are full of spirits, and as determined as ever to persevere in their just and glorious cause.

The dispatches from Sir John Moore, stated that the latest intelligence he had received was that Madrid held out. What the date of that intelligence is we have not heard.

Sir David Baird, he adds, was advancing towards a junction with him.

We know not how to reconcile the above intelligence with the statement in the last Paris papers received of the 14th inst.

Sir John Moore's account that the city still held out, would shew that the French were besieging it. Yet according to the French papers it made no resistance—and capitulated as soon as the enemy appeared before it. Salamanca is not more than 100 miles from Madrid and later intelligence than the 4th might have reached Salamanca on the 8th.

The account does not mention that Madrid was in a state of siege—but that the enemy had been repulsed from it with great loss, and had marched to the Escurial, in order to place themselves between Madrid and our army, which might be advancing by that road to the assistance of the capital.

PRETENDED TRIBUTE REPEALED. ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

The Gazette of last night contains the following order of council relative to two acts connected with the orders of November 1807:

"His majesty, in virtue of the powers reserved to him by two certain acts, passed in the 48th year of his majesty's reign, the one intituled "an act for granting to his majesty, until the end of the next session of parliament, duties of customs on the goods, wares and merchandizes therein enumerated in furtherance of the provisions of certain orders in council;" and the other intituled, "an act for granting to his majesty, until the end of the next session of Parliament, certain duties on the exportation from Ireland of goods, wares and merchandizes therein enumerated;" is pleased, by and with the advice of his privy council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, that until further order shall be made herein, the operation of the aforesaid acts be suspended as to any duties on exportation granted by the said acts, so far as relates to articles being the growth, produce or manufacture of any country for the time being in amity with his majesty, and from the ports of which the British flag is not excluded, which articles have been or shall be imported direct from such country into any port or place of the United Kingdom, either in British ships, or ships of the country of which such articles are the growth, produce or manufacture.

"And his majesty is further pleased with the advice aforesaid, to order & it is hereby ordered, that the operation of the aforesaid acts be in like manner suspended as to any duties on the exportation of goods, wares or merchandize which have been or may be condemned as prize."

FALMOUTH, Dec. 25.

"The Orestes is arrived in 11 days from Corunna, with dispatches. From the person who landed them, I gained the following intelligence:—That the British armies had effected a junction; that the Spaniards were again in high spirits; and the French had not entered Madrid, at the time of the news.

SAVANNAH, March 2.

On Monday last arrived here the French schooner La Fortune, from Dehay, Guada-loupe, which she left the 7th February. A passenger informs, that previous to sailing the French government brig L'Aventurier got into that port from St. Malo, bringing despatches for the commandant at Guadalupe, and French accounts to the 23d December, which stated that Madrid and Cádiz had surrendered to the French—the former, after a loss to the Spaniards and retreat of 40,000 men; the latter, with little or no bloodshed, in consequence of a threat on the part of the French to storm it. An English and Spanish squadron, lying in Cádiz at the time, are said to have fallen along with it.

Nothing official had transpired at De-hay; the despatches having been forwarded immediately on their arrival to the commandant at Basseterre.

MONDAY, MARCH 13.

Capture of Martinique.—Captain Marshall of the schooner Harriet, arrived at N.
York, in 21 days from St. Bartholomew, informs, that two days before he sailed, news was received that the English had captured the island of Martinique, excepting Fort Bourbon, which the French still had possession of.

Martinique Taken.—We are informed by captain Hazard, of the Swedish schooner Locker, from St. Bartholomew, which island he left the 15th of last month, that a few days before he sailed, information which was relied on, was received, stating that with the exception of one fort, the island of Martinique had surrendered to the British forces under admiral Cochrane and sir Geo.
Pr-vost. The letters received at St. Bartholomew, announcing this event, stated that no doubt was entertained that the remainning fort would shortly surrender.

(Norfolk Ledger.)

An attack has been made upon the harbor of Diamante, a small port in the Mediterranean, by the British, and 38 vessels, including some gun-boats, were captured; they were loaded with contributions from the provinces of Calabria, for the Neapolitan government.

Extract of a letter from Amelia Island, (Georgia) dated the 13th inst.

"We have an arrival here, in 16 days from Tortola, which brings accounts of ten sail of the French line having got out of Rocheport with troops, supposed bound for the West Indies, which have prevented the expedition sailing from Barbadoes against Martinique."

For the Alexandria Daily Gazette.

To a Lady who desired to know of the author what he thought the greatest joy upon earth.

YOU ask me my supremest bliss?
I'll tell thee, Love! 'tis in thy kiss; 'Tis in the sweets thy lips disclose, Thy sighs, more fragrant than the rose;
'Tis on thy cheek of roseate hue;
'Tis in thine eye of melting blue;
'Tis in the soft but thrilling glance,
That doth so oft my soul entrance;
'Tis in the smile I love so well;
'Tis in the half-veil'd bosom's swell;
'Tis in the warm, half-stifled sigh,
The sigh of love and extacy;
'Tis in the flame within me glowing,
The sweetly painful bliss of loving.

The private life of WASHINGTON,

With a great number of original anecdotes

Br. M. L. WEEMS,

Ci-devant Rector of Mount Vernon Parish, and, for fifteen years, the intimate of the grey-haired veterans of the last century, who were the neighbors and companions of Washington.

Criticism by Judge Brackenridge dated

CARLISLE, Jan. 19th, 1802.

Dear Sir,

I have read and read again your publication, the life of Washington; and you will not understand me as acknowledging it without defects, when I take notice only of the excellencies. These indeed are very useful and the pleasant: historical instruction and amusing anecdote. You have drawn from both urns, of tears and mirth. With a sudden transition we have the pathetic and the comic, and both irresistible. Your style is always perspicuous, and occasionally to the hills of imagery and richness of expression, rising to the sublime. But the great richness of your book is, the morality of the sentiment. I do not know a better to be put into the hands of young persons to raise their minds to political and moral virtue. It ought to be introduced into all schools; and to be in every family. With regard to biography merit, the delineation is such as to give a view of character, not on a parade day, but independent of command or station. This is the painting which interests. It is that which makes a likeness; for a mere outline, wanting the expression, gives no physiognomy.

I am, with much esteem, your's,

H. H. BRACKENRIDGE.

Liberal allowance to school-masters and country merchants.
